Continuity of Operations Plan Training Increasing an organization's capacity to deliver services and recover their operations in a serious emergency is the focus of this training and planning module. As part of the process, agencies will develop their knowledge and confidence in using CARD's mission-centered ICS for Community Responders to empower staff and volunteers. Recognizing mission-critical functions and fully understanding their importance, both pre- and post-disaster, is an important step in successful planning for continuity of operations.

Learn how you can be ready to continue serving your clients and the most vulnerable individuals in our community!

This will be a series of 3 classes designed specifically to start you and your organization on building a COOP. Attendance at all three sessions is highly recommended.
